ELK COUNTRY & RAWLEY COGAN - At Home on Two Million Acres

Elk Country Video Release

As part of the September 10 Conservation Partner Reception, Keystone Elk Country Alliance released the next video in WPPSEF's The Quiet Ones series: Elk Country & Rawley Cogan - At Home on Two Million Acres.

Take a few minutes and watch the short video above. Listen to President and CEO of Keystone Elk Country Alliance, Rawley Cogan, talk about the relationship between experiencing elk in the outdoors to building a new LEED certified facility to enhance that experience and Elk Country's partnership with the West Penn Power Sustainable Energy Fund.

Pennsylvania is home to the largest elk herd east of the Mississippi. Elk Country Visitor Center is the premier location in the Northeastern United States for seeing and experiencing elk in a natural setting. Plan an unforgettable visit this fall to this special region of Pennsylvania.

If you have a project that needs financing, ask yourself, "How will my project change my community?" and then give us a call.
